

The main story

Over 40 people volunteered their time to pick up over 1,800 lbs of trash from Conaskonk Point (Pebble Beach) in the Borough of Union Beach, NJ. Most of the trash was glass bottles, styrofoam, and lots and lots of plastic from bottles to bottle caps to plastic bags. Unique finds were old tents, lawn chairs, and road barriers.

Unfortunately, more trash and plastic debris still exist at this site. We will back next year!!

Thanks to Union Beach Police Department for their valuable assistance to supply garbage bags and to help remove trash from the beach. Also thanks to Union Beach Councilman Lou Andreuzzi for helping to manage the clean-up and being part of the day by removing trash. Special appreciation to Will Johnson from Monmouth County Clean Communities for supplying trash bags, litter tools, and removing all the trash and debris at the end of the day.
